Quality assured.

Tarmac's new, state-of-the-art block production facility in Orlando utilizes the most technically advanced production and splitting equipment on the market, and is capable of producing in excess of 14 million blocks per year. Our centralized location allows for convenient service — and quick delivery of split face units — to any Florida jobsite. We are accessible to the freeway system (Florida Turnpike and I-4 in Orlando) and located within 3 hours to all Florida major metropolitan markets.

Operating nine block production plants with 16 machines across Florida, Tarmac is one of the largest concrete block producers in the southeastern U.S.
